

Making Deeper Connections with Story

Visual art can be a tool to help us understand an idea more deeply. Using the prompts below, draw or journal your ideas about a story character.

Describe your character. Who are they? What do they look like? What qualities do they have?

Who in your life does your character remind you of?

What is your character's motivation/what does your character want most?

What qualities of the character do you like (or not like)?